Understand that just because you're gay that does not make you any less of a man

Pleasure like you've never ever known before is soon to come your way I must warn you however to be extra careful of this one Sex without protection no matter how badly he begs for it must not be granted Careful you must be this time to not let the wrong one take you with your pants down for Even the most healthy of lovers can give to you something you do not want if you do not first cover it So take your time and hurry into his arms or his bed right away

All the way with that stranger at the bar might not be such a good idea after all

Taurus

Trouble's gonna be a brewin' if you even think about goin' out and cheatin' tonight

A fight bitter and harsh will end your 5 year long romance if you experiment

Useless to try and heal your wounded ego with this one night of hot but regrettable sex

Reach out instead to your man, swallow your pride and his, and be the first to say you're sorry

Second chances will be hard to come by when dealing with hurt feelings of both old and new friends

One day at a time is how you must take this at least for a little while

One day but not now they may come around, but I wouldn't hold my breath if I were you

As you become surrounded by bigger and better things to come Reality will prove even sweeter than the fiction you currently pen
